Fall is Ideal Time to Plant Bulbs, Peonies, Evergreens, Trees, Etc.

As the most favorable time for planting hardy plants like Trees, Shrubs and Evergreens is when they are in a dormant condition, Fall is an ideal season for such planting. That noted authority, Baily, says, “In general,

SCHEDULE FOR FALL PLANTING

The average dates for the Fall planting season follow, but the earlier planting is done after the season opens the better:
LAWN SEEDING—August 10 to October 1.
PEONIES—August 15 to October 1.
EVERGREENS—August 15 to November 25.
SPRING AND WINTER FLOWERING BULBS—September 1 to November 15.
PERENNIALS—September 1 to November 15.
TREES, SHRUBS AND VINES—October 1 to November 10.
Fall planting of Evergreens can be successfully done as late as any other planting, provided the ground is kept moist when it freezes.

it is best to set hardy plants in the Fall.”

Especially should newly graded grounds be planted in the Fall—not only for the advantages of Fall planting but to escape the unsightly bareness which Winter will the more strikingly reveal.

Plant These Bulbs in Fall to Enjoy Spring's Earliest Flowers

OUTDOOR CULTURE OF BULBS

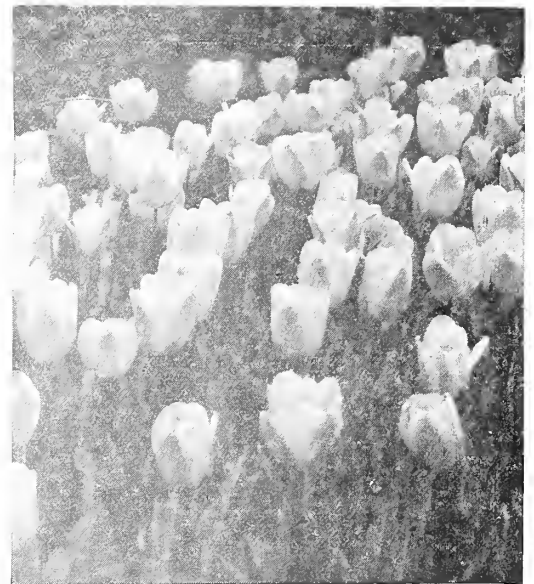

Plant in a moderately rich soil, well drained. For extra fine flowers, incorporate bone meal or tankage in the proportion of one pound to each square yard. Avoid fresh manure.

Cover each bulb firmly with soil to a depth of twice its height. Space Hyacinths 6 to 10 inches apart, Tulips 4 to 6 inches apart, small varieties of Narcissi 4 to 6 inches apart and the larger varieties 6 to 8 inches apart.

After flowering do not remove tops until leaves turn brown. If bulbs must be removed to make way for other plants, take roots, top and all and heel-in (not too close together), in a shady spot until the tops commence to die; after which the tops can be carefully removed and the bulbs stored in a dark, cool place until time for replanting next Fall.

Spring's earliest Flowers—always gladly welcomed and thoroughly enjoyed—such as Snowdrops, Crocuses, Tulips, Hyacinths, Narcissi, are the reward of foresight exercised in planting the bulbs in the Fall. These Bulbs cannot be planted in the Spring.

They bloom in such a variety of colors and are so easily planted that almost any arrangement is possible. Blooming in every conceivable tint of brilliant red, yellow and pink, brown and violet, you can make the Springtime garden a riot of gorgeous colors lasting 6 to 8 weeks. Plant bulbs for formal effects, or plant them indiscriminately equally as well.

A Bed of Tulips is a Wonderful Sight, But the Planting Must be Done in the Fall Only

Single and Double Early Flowering Tulips

The early flowering Tulips, both single and double, are popular because they flower so early and are so extremely effective for bedding purposes, eclipsing in variety of coloring and picturesqueness almost any other flower.

Tulips should be planted in quantities for their mass effect or for striking combinations of color, as when planted here and there for individual flowers the effect is not so interesting.

The Early-Flowering Tulips are ideal for planting in beds, as shallow-rooted plants such as Geraniums, Petunias, Asters, Scarlet Sage, Gladioli, Zinnias, etc., can be grown in the same beds later without removing the tulips, except once in three years.

SINGLE EARLY TULIPS

These will bloom a trifle earlier than the Double Tulips and are the more graceful.

DARWIN TULIPS

Very Effective Planted in Beds or for Use as Cut Flowers

Darwin Tulips

Most striking and beautiful of the Tulips are the gorgeous May flowering Darwin Tulips with their huge, cup-shaped flowers in attractive, clear colors. They attain a height of 20 to 30 inches and are most stately in appearance.

Planted in groups in Shrub and Perennial Borders, Darwin Tulips are wonderfully effective, and will continue to bloom for years. Always plant in solid colors. For cutting they are unsurpassed as they last a long time in water.

COTTAGE TULIPS (May Flowering)

Cottage Tulips will bloom several weeks later than the early blooming varieties. They are extremely hardy and should be liberally planted in clumps or masses to follow in bloom the earlier varieties.

Their exquisite colors and long lasting qualities make them especially valued for bedding purposes and for cut flowers.

BREEDER TULIPS

Breeder Tulips are characterized chiefly by rich, dark colors, many rare among flowers—brown, bronzes, blue-blacks, purples, dull gold, dark lilac, etc.—and all exquisitely blended.

They produce perfect harmony or effective contrasts with the more brilliant Darwin and Cottage Tulips, which bloom about the same time. Though not so tall the flowers will average larger than Darwins.

The Breeders have great lasting qualities and some varieties a sweet, agreeable fragrance.

PARROT TULIPS

The petals of the beautiful and interesting late-flowering Parrot Tulips are curiously fringed or cut. The flowers are immense and very attractive by reason of the brilliant varied colors. Before it opens the flower resembles the neck of a parrot, hence its name.

Parrot Tulips are excellent for bedding or in the borders, and are also beautiful in bowls or vases, having good keeping qualities.

CROCUSES—Earliest Spring Flowers

It is not unusual to see Crocuses lifting their beautiful, vari-colored heads over the lawn long before the drifts of the last heavy blizzard have disappeared.

Because of its extreme earliness and attractiveness this brilliant flower is universally admired and, being comparatively inexpensive, is planted in liberal quantities.

Crocuses grow anywhere but to be brought to highest perfection should be grown in an open bed or border of deep, rich sandy loam.

CROCUSES

HYACINTHS Richest Colored and Most Fragrantly Perfumed of the Early Spring Flowers

The varieties offered are the best representatives of each color and will produce massive, well-filled spikes of great beauty, supported by sturdy stems.

For richness of color and abundance of fragrance the stately Hyacinth has no peer among the Spring blooming bulbous plants.

Hyacinths respond as well to indoor as outdoor culture, readily adapting themselves to growing in pots or glasses of water.

DAFFODILS AND NARCISSI Thrive Almost Anywhere Even in Poor Soil

The Lovely Narcissus

For soft, beautiful colors, delicacy and gracefulness of form, and ease of culture the Narcissus or Daffodil is not excelled by any of the early Spring flowers. They are perfectly hardy and do well in almost any soil or position.

Planted on the lawn, in the hardy border, under the tree, or in a vacant corner in the garden they will bloom more abundantly and attractively each year.

They are also easily grown in pots for Winter blooming, forming a cheerful indoor decoration.

INDOOR CULTURE OF BULBS

For indoor use during the winter season plant the Bulbs in a rich sandy loam any time from September to December, placing a few pieces of broken crockery or charcoal in the bottom of the pots for drainage.

Water very thoroughly and set pots outdoors under a depth of 4 to 6 inches of soil or coal ashes to prevent freezing. Or, after carefully watering, place in a cool, dark cellar; but don't let soil dry out.

Not less than six to eight weeks later bring gradually to light. If plants remain dwarf, shade slightly. After a reasonable amount of growth is secured, place the pots where desired; but, if in a heated room, water frequently. Bringing bulbs to light in relays will provide a succession of bloom.

Boxwood, Barberry and Privet—Leading Hedge Plants

When planning a Hedge to enjoy its picturesque effect instead of the unsightliness of the ordinary artificial fence, one naturally thinks of Barberry or California Privet.

Estimate 18 inches as the distance between plants for a Barberry hedge, 6 inches for California Privet, the latter to be cut to within 6 inches of the ground immediately after planting.

Ideal Fall Mulch and Fertilizer for Lawns and Plants

On what you do in the Fall for your Lawn, Evergreens, Trees and Shrubs will depend much of their vigor and beauty next season. Most important in Fall and Winter maintenance are Fertilizing and Mulching.

"Barr's Prepared Tobacco Stems" or "Barr's Coarse Tobacco Dust" are ideal for Fall application as they contain in themselves the two-fold value of Fertilizer and Mulch in high degree. They are preferable to manure owing to the latter's offensive characteristics and its liability to introduce weed seeds. "Barr's Prepared Tobacco Stems" and "Barr's Coarse Tobacco Dust" have the additional value of being an effective insecticide.

When used around plants "Barr's Prepared Tobacco Stems" or "Barr's Coarse Tobacco Dust" should be placed several inches deep on the whole area of surface above the entire spread of the roots.

On the lawn a bag of 100 pounds is sufficient for an area of 250-300 square feet applied thickly.

Price of "Barr's Prepared Tobacco Stems" and "Barr's Coarse Tobacco Dust"

$2.50 per 100 pounds; $30 per ton (500 pounds or more at ton rate) F. O. B. Lancaster, Pa. Owing to a scarcity that develops each Fall it is well to place orders well in advance of time to use. When ordering state whether you want the "Prepared Stems" or the "Coarse Dust."
